PRINCIPLE #2

PLAYBOOK

Principle #2 Playbook: Success Can Only Be Built on Failure

Based on this Principle, what can you do to change your perception of action in such a way as seeing that the failure is the key to the success?

Your thoughts are words and words have power. If you truly believe you can improve anything, then there will be new actions you must take. When thinking of these actions, you must make sure the conversation in your own brain is positive, and not negative. The words you must associate with must energize your desire to take action, and regardless of the result, see it as a victory? Failure is necessary at some level to have success.

Define the nature of the conversations you have with yourself when you begin to think about improving one of the key areas outlined in Playbook #1? _____

Is there a positive or negative energy? Describe it in detail! (brutal honesty): _____

If the improvement is big, there can be those same big swings in your mindset, and they can be either positive or negative. Define the extremes of your thinking when change is BIG? Does fear go up or down? (brutal honesty): _____

When you look at the things you want to improve, there's two things you must know. First, there should always be a level of fear. Second, at some level, you must do it afraid. I'll let you define that parameter, but I can say that once you do what you fear, fear turns into power, and progress is the result.

Improvement #1: Define the emotions around this change. What excites you? What scares you? What is the best thing that can happen? What is the worst thing that can happen? _____
